The States signatory to the present Convention,

Recognising that the child, for the full and harmonious development of his or her personality, should grow up in a family environment, in an atmosphere of happiness, love and understanding,

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

The purpose of this Bill is to amend the Adoption of Children Act, Cap 46:04 to give the Hague Convention of 29 May 1993 on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoption the force of law in Guyana. The Convention gives effect to Article 21 of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child by adding substantive safeguards and procedures to the broad principles and norms laid down in the Convention on the Rights of the Child.

This Convention recognises that growing up in a family is of primary importance and is essential for the happiness and healthy development of the child. It also recognises that intercountry adoption may offer the advantage of a permanent family to a child for whom a suitable family cannot be found in his or her country of origin. The Convention provides greater security, predictability and transparency for all parties to the adoption, including prospective adoptive parents. The Convention also establishes a system of co-operation between authorities in countries of origin and receiving countries, designed to ensure that intercountry adoption takes place under conditions which help to guarantee the best adoption practices and elimination of abuses.

Clause 2 of the Bill provides for the insertion of Part IVA in the Principal Act. Part IVA sets out the provisions procedurally related to intercountry adoption. It begins by establishing that the Convention shall have force of law in Guyana. It further designates the Attorney General and Minister of Legal Affairs to be the Central Authority and sets out the extent of his functions. This Part also provides that the Central Authority has the power to accredited bodies to provide intercountry adoption services and sets out the requirements that accredited bodies must comply with.

Part IVA further sets out the procedural requirements for an adoption, the effect of and issuance of an adoption certificate as well as, the adoption of child from Guyana by a person in a Convention country. It further sets out provisions for the recognition of an adoption certificate from a Convention country. This Part also empowers the Central Authority to apply to the Court for the refusal to recognise an adoption. It provides that the Court may in such instances review the application and make a declaration if it is satisfied that the adoption is manifestly contrary to public policy, taking into account the best interests of the child. This Part also empowers the Central Authority to apply to the Court for an order that the pre-existing legal parent-child relationship be terminated. Further, this Part sets out that the Agency on behalf of the Central Authority shall maintain a Convention database which shall be kept confidential. This Part also sets out that the Central Authority and an accredited body may enter into working agreements with another Convention country and another accredited adoption agency, respectively.

Clause 3 of the Bill provides for an amendment to the Principal Act. The amendment allows for the substitution for the word “Schedule” the words “First Schedule” wherever it appears throughout the Act.

Clause 4 of the Bill provides for the insertion of a new Second Schedule into the Principal Act which sets out the text of the Convention.
