OBJECTS AND REASONS

Under existing law proceedings may be instituted for the benefit of a deceased person's estate within a period of three years after injury which is caused by the commission of a tort and which results in death. The Accidental Deaths and Workmen's Injuries (Compensation) Ordinance, Chapter 112, allows certain persons including illegitimate relations to bring proceedings for the compensation within twelve months where the death of a person is caused by some wrongful act, neglect or default.

2. It is considered desirable that the period of twelve months for the institution of proceedings for compensation should be extended to three years being the period already allowed in respect of proceedings brought in tort for the benefit of the estate of a deceased person and this Bill seeks to achieve this object.

F. H. W. RAMSAHOYE,
Attorney General.
