Exclusion from the scope of the Act.

country but which was given in another country;
and

- (o) given by a designated court in proceedings founded on a judgment of a court in another country and having as their objective the enforcement of the latter judgment.

(2) A foreign judgment shall not be excluded from the scope of this Act by the mere fact that a government, a government agency or any person acting for the state was a party to the proceedings in which the foreign judgment was made.

(3) Nothing in this Act shall affect the privileges and immunities of sovereign countries or of entities of sovereign countries, or of international organisations.

Jurisdiction of the original court.

(k) the proceedings related to a dispute concerning goods made or services provided by the judgment debtor and the goods and services were acquired or used by the judgment creditor when the judgment creditor was ordinarily resident in the country of origin and were marketed through the normal channels of trade in the country of origin.

(2) For the purposes of this section, a person shall not be regarded as having submitted to the jurisdiction of the court by reason only of the fact that the person appeared conditionally or otherwise in the proceedings for all or any one or more of the following purposes –

- (a) to contest the jurisdiction of the court;
- (b) to ask the court to dismiss or stay the proceedings on the grounds that the dispute in question should be submitted to arbitration or to the determination of the courts of another country; or
- (c) to protect or obtain the release of, property seized or threatened with seizure in the proceedings.

(3) The original court shall not be deemed to have had jurisdiction –

- (a) if the subject matter of the proceedings was immovable property outside the country of the original court; proceedings in that court; or

- (c) if the judgment debtor was a person entitled to immunity from the jurisdiction of the original court and did not submit to the jurisdiction of that court.

PART II
REGISTRATION AND ENFORCABILITY OF FOREIGN JUDGMENTS

Registration of foreign judgments.

7. (1) A foreign judgment shall not be enforced except by registration under this Act.

(2) A judgment creditor may apply to the High Court to have the judgment registered at any time within six years after –

- (a) the date of the judgment; or
- (b) where there have been proceedings by way of appeal against the judgment, the date of the last judgment given in those proceedings.

(3) A judgment shall not be registered if at the date of the application –

- (a) it has been wholly satisfied; or
- (b) it could not be enforced by execution in the country of the original court.

(4) An application shall be made under subsection (2) in any case in which –

- (a) it has been wholly satisfied; or
- (b) it could not be enforced by execution in the country of the original court.

(4) An application shall be made under subsection (2) in any case in which –

- (a) the judgment debtor was personally served with process in the original action in a manner provided for by the rules of procedure of the country where the action originated;
- (b) the judgment debtor, though not personally served, appeared in the original court otherwise than for the purpose of protecting, or obtaining the release of property seized or threatened with seizure in the proceedings, or of contesting the jurisdiction of that court; or
- (c) under the law in force in the country of origin, the time within which an appeal may be made against the judgment has expired and no appeal is pending or an appeal has been heard and disposed of.

Civil Procedure
No.2 of 2016

(5) An application for registration of a judgment under subsection (1), shall be made in accordance with the Civil Procedure Rules.

(6) Where the sum payable under a judgment which is to be registered is expressed in a currency other than the currency of Guyana, the judgment shall be registered as if it were a judgment for such sum in the currency of Guyana, calculated at the rate of exchange prevailing at the date of the judgment of the original court.

(7) Where at the date of the application for registration the judgment of the original court has been partly satisfied, the judgment shall not be registered in respect of the whole sum payable or items of movable property deliverable under the judgment, but only in respect of the balance remaining payable or the items of movable property remaining deliverable.

(8) Where a judgment for the payment of a sum of money is satisfied in part by payment in a currency other than the currency of Guyana, the extent to which the registered judgment has been satisfied shall, for the purposes of subsection (7), be calculated on the basis of the rate of exchange prevailing at the date or dates of payment of the relevant sum or sums.

(9) A written certificate purporting to be signed by an officer of any bank in Guyana certifying that a specified rate of exchange prevailed between currencies on a certain date shall be prima facie evidence of the rate of exchange prevailing on that date.

(10) Where, on an application for the registration of a judgment, it appears to the registering court that the judgment is in respect of different matters and that some, but not all, of the provisions of the judgment are such that if those provisions had been contained in separate judgments those judgments could properly have been registered, the judgment may be registered in respect of those provisions but not in respect of any other provisions contained in the judgment.

(11) In addition to the sum of money payable under the judgment of the original court, including any interest which by the law of the country of the original court becomes due under the judgment up to the time of registration, the judgment shall be registered for the reasonable costs of and incidental to registration, including the costs of obtaining a certified copy of the judgment from the original court.

Effect of registration.

8. (1) Subject to subsection (2) –

- (a) a registered judgment shall, for the purposes of execution, be of same force and effect;
- (b) proceedings may be taken on a registered judgment;
- (c) the sum for which a judgment is registered shall carry interest; and
- (d) the registering court shall have the same control over the execution of a registered judgment as it has over its own judgments and the judgment may be enforced under procedures applying to the judgments of the court.

(2) An execution shall not issue on the registration of a judgment so long as it is competent for any party to make an application to have the registration of the judgment set aside, or, where such an application is made, until after the application has been finally determined.

Setting aside judgment.

9. (1) Where a judgment has been registered under this Act an application may be made by the judgment debtor that the judgment be set aside on any of the grounds set out in subsection (2) or (3), and if the High Court is satisfied that any of those grounds has been established it shall set aside the registration of the judgment.

(2) The grounds upon which a registered judgment may be set aside are that –

- (a) the judgment is not a judgment to which this Act applies;
- (b) the judgment was registered in contravention of this Act;
- (c) the courts of the country of origin had no jurisdiction to adjudicate upon the cause of action upon which the judgment was given;
- (d) the judgment debtor did not appear in the original court and the jurisdiction of that court was based upon an agreement by the judgment debtor to submit to its jurisdiction which is invalid under the rules of private international law applicable to Guyana;
- (e) the cause of action upon which the judgment was given had at the date of that judgment been the subject of a final and conclusive judgment of a court having jurisdiction to adjudicate upon that cause of action;
- (f) the matter in relation to which the judgment was given had, subsequent to the date of that judgment, and as a result of proceedings instituted prior to the institution of the proceedings in the original court, become the subject of a final and conclusive judgment of a court in Guyana which is irreconcilable with the judgment of the original court;

(g) the judgment debtor, being the defendant in the original proceedings –

(i) was not duly served with the process of the original court; or

(ii) notwithstanding that he or she was duly served in conformity with the law of the country of that court, did not receive notice of those proceedings in sufficient time to enable him or her to defend the proceedings; and

(iii) did not appear or appeared only for one or more of the purposes set out in section 6(2);

(h) the judgment was obtained by fraud, other than fraud which was, or could have been, put in issue by the judgment debtor in the proceedings in the original court or on appeal from that court;

(i) there are provisions of the law of Guyana which, by virtue of the rules of private international law applicable to Guyana, would not have been applicable notwithstanding any choice of another system of law by the judgment creditor and the judgment debtor, had the proceedings been brought in the High Court, and the judgment disregards those provisions in some material respect;

(j) it was necessary for the original court, in order to give its judgment, to decide a question relating to any matter specified in paragraphs (c) to (j) of section 5(1) and the decision is different from that which the High Court, having applied the rules of private international law applicable to Guyana, would have reached;

(k) the judgment has been taken on appeal, and reversed or discharged or otherwise set aside, in a court of the country of origin;

(l) the judgment debtor is a person who, under the rules of public international law, is entitled to immunity from the jurisdiction of the High Court;

(m) the rights under the judgment are not vested in the person by whom the application for registration was made; or

(n) the enforcement of the judgment would be manifestly contrary to public policy in Guyana.

(3) An application may be made under subsection (1) to set aside the judgment to the extent that its enforcement would require payment of sums in excess of monetary limits upon liability imposed by any law of Guyana which applies under the rules of private international law applicable to Guyana.

(4) Where the High Court is satisfied, on an application made by or on behalf of a judgment debtor, that the sums, including costs, awarded under a registered judgment are substantially in excess of those which would have been awarded by the High Court on the basis of the findings of law and fact made by the original court, had the assessment of those sums been made in proceedings before the High Court, the High Court may set aside the judgment to the extent of that excess.

Power of registering court on application to set aside judgment.

10. (1) An application may be made by or on behalf of the judgment debtor to set aside the registration of a judgment on the ground that—

- (a) an appeal is pending against the judgment;
- (b) he or she is entitled and intends to appeal against the judgment; or
- (c) the matter in relation to which the judgment was given is the same as that in respect of which proceedings, instituted prior to the institution of the proceedings in the original court, are pending in a court in Guyana.

(2) Where the High Court is satisfied that the grounds specified in subsection (1) are satisfied, it may, on such terms as it thinks just, set aside the registration or adjourn the application until the expiration of such period as appears to the court to be reasonably sufficient to enable the applicant to take the necessary steps to have the appeal disposed of by the competent court.

PART III
RECOGNITION OF FOREIGN JUDGMENTS.

Recognition of a foreign judgment.

11. (1) Subject to the following provisions of this section, a foreign judgment shall be recognised in any proceedings in Guyana, without any registration or other formality, as binding on the parties so as to be a defence to a claim or conclusive of an issue.

(2) The High Court shall not review a foreign judgment on the merits.

(3) A foreign judgment shall not be recognised in Guyana if at the time the judgment is relied upon in proceedings in Guyana –

- (a) proceedings between the same parties and having the same subject matter were pending before a court in Guyana, having been commenced before the proceedings that gave rise to the judgment were commenced;
- (b) the judgment is inconsistent with a judgment made, either in Guyana or in a foreign country, provided that in the latter case the judgment meets the conditions for recognition;
- (c) the judgment was rendered in proceedings that were conducted contrary to the principles of procedural fairness and natural justice;
- (d) the judgment is manifestly contrary to public policy;
- (e) the judgment was obtained by fraud;

(f) where the judgment has been registered and the registration would have been set aside on some ground other than –

(i) that sum of money was not payable under the judgment;

(ii) that the judgment had been wholly or partly satisfied; or

(iii) that at the date of the application the judgment could not be enforced by execution in the country of the original court; or

(g) where the judgment has not been registered, it is shown, whether it could have been registered or not, that if it had been registered the registration would have been set aside on an application for that purpose on some ground other than one of the grounds specified in paragraph (f).

(4) Nothing in this section shall be taken to prevent the High Court from recognising any judgment as conclusive of any matter of law or fact decided in that judgment if the judgment would have been so recognised before the passing of this Act.

PART IV

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

This Bill seeks to make provision for the recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments and to repeal the existing Foreign Judgment (Reciprocal Enforcement) Act, Cap 7:04 and the Judgments Extension Ordinance, Cap. 27.

Part I, which includes Clauses 1 to 6 of the Bill deals with the preliminary matters pertaining to the Bill. Clause 1 provides for the short title of the Bill. Clause 2 of the Bill sets out the definition of key words and expressions used throughout the Act.

Clause 3 provides for the extension of the Act to countries specified in the Schedule and where a country is not listed in the Schedule, this Act shall also apply to that country if Guyana is obligated to recognise and enforce a judgment of that country under an international agreement. The Minister is also empowered to extend the Act to any country where the Minister is satisfied that substantial reciprocity will be given in relation to the enforcement in that country of judgments obtained in the High Court.

Clause 4 specifies the list of judgments to which the Act applies. This list includes money judgments and non-monetary judgments and orders of a designated court in civil proceedings for the payment of a lump sum of money as financial provision for, or maintenance of, a spouse or a former spouse or a child or other person who is or was a dependent of another.

Clause 5 deals with the exclusion of certain foreign judgments from the Act. Foreign judgments relating to the status and legal capacity of a natural person, or for those dealing with the recovery of taxes are examples of judgments that are excluded. The Act does not affect the privileges and immunities of sovereign states or entities of sovereign states or of international organisations.

Clause 6 covers the jurisdiction of the original court. For example, the original court is said to have jurisdiction if the judgment debtor expressly agreed to submit to the jurisdiction of the court, the judgment debtor submitted to the jurisdiction of the court by appearing voluntarily in the proceedings, and the proceedings related to a dispute concerning title to real property located in the state of origin. Furthermore, a person will not be deemed to have submitted to the jurisdiction of the court if that person appeared for reasons such as the contesting of the jurisdiction of the court, to protect or obtain the release of, property seized or threatened with seizure, or to ask the court to dismiss or stay the proceedings on the ground that the dispute should be submitted to arbitration or to be determined by the courts of another country.

Part II, includes Clauses 7 to 10. Clause 7 provides for the registration of foreign judgments. An application for registration of a foreign judgment must be made within six years from the date of the judgment or where there have been proceedings by way of appeal against the judgment, the date of the last judgment given in those proceedings. The clause also provides that where the sum payable under a judgment which is to be registered is expressed in a currency other than the currency of Guyana, the judgment shall be registered as if it were a judgment for such sum in the currency of Guyana, calculated at the rate of exchange prevailing at the date of the judgment of the original court. Clause 8 provides that on registration a judgment is to be treated as if it were a judgment of the court in which it is registered, given on the date of its registration.

Clause 9 enables a party against whom a registered judgment is enforceable to seek to have its registration set aside. It also provides the grounds on which registration may be set aside. For example, registration may be set aside where the judgment was registered in contravention of the Act, where the judgment was obtained by fraud, or where the original court had no jurisdiction to give the judgment. Clause 10 empowers the court to set aside the registration of a judgment, where it is satisfied of any of the grounds set out in that judgment.

Part III deals with recognition of foreign judgments. Clause 11 states the basic rule as to recognition and the circumstances in which recognition will be refused. It provides that a foreign judgment shall be recognised in any proceedings in Guyana, without any registration or other formality, as binding on the parties so as to be a defence to a claim or conclusive of an issue.

Part IV, which is inclusive of Clauses 12 to 17, sets out the miscellaneous provisions. Clause 12 empowers the Minister to make special provisions, as may be necessary, to give effect to any agreement between Guyana and any non-Commonwealth country, with respect to the enforcement of foreign judgments.

Clause 13 enables the High Court to make rules of court in order to carry out or give effect to the provision of the Act. Clause 14 enables a judgment creditor to obtain a certificate of judgment from the High Court in order to enforce a judgment from Guyana, overseas. Clause 15 enables the Minister to make regulations to give effect to the provisions of the Act.

Clause 16 repeals the Foreign Judgment (Reciprocal Enforcement) Act, Cap. 7:04 and the Judgments Extension Ordinance, Cap. 27.

Clause 17 sets out the relevant transitional provisions which are intended to take effect upon the repeal of the Foreign Judgment (Reciprocal Enforcement) Act, Cap. 7:04. Notwithstanding the repeal of the Foreign Judgment (Reciprocal Enforcement), that Act continues to apply with respect to foreign judgments made in proceedings commenced prior to the coming into force of this Act. An application for registration of a judgment under the repealed Act which is pending at the date of commencement of this Act shall be deemed to have been made under this Act.

Attorney General and Minister of Legal Affairs.
